LETTER OF SUBMITTAL

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,
Washington, D. C., May 17, 1935.

Hon. EDWIN A. HALSEY,
Secretary of the United States Senate.

DEAR MR. HALSEY: In accordance with my letter of April 13 relative to the presentation of materials requested in Senate Resolution 111, I submit available data showing—

1. Acreage and production of cotton in the United States and important foreign producing countries.

2. Estimates of acreage, production, trade, and utilization of wheat in the United States and important foreign producing countries.

These data are submitted as supplementary to data furnished by the Special Foreign Trade Adviser and the Secretary of Commerce.

If the Department of Agriculture can be of further assistance in connection with this inquiry, I hope you will not hesitate to call upon me for whatever you may need.

Sincerely yours,

H. A. WALLACE, Secretary.

<sup>3</sup> Stocks figures are not comparable throughout the entire period but become more comprehensive in the later years. End-of-year stocks used in calculating the disappearance are the same as at beginning of the following year except where a change is first made in the basis of computing stocks, the old method of computation being used for end-of-year stocks and the new method for beginning-of-year stocks as of the same date. Year-end stocks do not include the following which are included in beginning-of-year stocks for the dates given:

July 1, 1919, 27,400,000 bushels merchant mill (including in transit) stocks.

July 1, 1930, 12,500,000 bushels stored for others by merchant mills.

As of July 1, 1930, there is the further difference that year-end stocks include Bradstreet's visible supply of 112,755,000 bushels while beginning-of-year stocks include instead commercial stocks as reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of 109,327,000 bushels.

Division of Statistical and Historical Research. Compiled from official sources. Data for years 1909-13 are for old Austrian Kingdom. 1914-16 excludes Galicia and Bucovina, invaded territory. 1917-20 comparable to present boundaries with the exception of data for Burgenland (ceded from Hungary), which is included from 1921. (When the Austro-Hungarian Empire was split up, the territory of Bucovina to the northeast was ceded to Rumania; the territory of Galicia to the north was incorporated into the Republic of Poland; the districts of Bohemia, Moravia, and Silesia to the northwest were incorporated into the Republic of Czechoslovakia; part of the Tirol and the Istrian Peninsula were ceded to Italy, while Slovenia was incorporated into the Kingdom of Yugoslavia.)
